

APSU Medical School Acceptances since 2003

The following is a rough estimate of students who attained their undergraduate degree from APSU and who have matriculated to medical school, both MD and DO since 2003. The list is only approximate, but it does give some feel for the range of schools our students have applied to in the past 5 years and their final decisions. Medical school applicants who did not obtain their undergraduate degree from APSU but attended APSU at some point in time are not included.

Acceptance summary

The following table summarizes information from the AAMC Roster for APSU. The roster shows the total number of medical school applicants (MD only) who attended APSU at some point in their academic careers and have been accepted to an allopathic (MD) medical school. The number of DO accepts is estimated and is based somewhat on personal information from the advisors about DO school acceptances as well as AACOM information. The undergraduate numbers are taken from the same sources and focus on current APSU undergraduate or recently graduated students.
